Luxottica closed the third quarter of 2016 with reported net sales up by 3.2%, driven by solid results in Europe and some emerging markets, the overall acceleration of retail and an extended summer season which favored the success of the Group's new collections.

The Group continues to grow due to its vertical integration and geographic diversification despite the temporary reduction of wholesale sales in the North American and Chinese markets in the third quarter of 2016 as a result of stricter trade policies. The enforcement of the "MAP policy" (Minimum Advertised Price) in North America, with zero discounts from July 1, was critical in allowing Luxottica to develop the equity of its brand portfolio, clean up its distribution channels and defend the business of its wholesale customers. While the initiative has resulted in a decrease in sales to online operators by more than 60%, on the upside, the number of discounted offers in the e-commerce channel has also seen a significant decrease.

In China, the reconfiguration of the Group's distribution network and termination of several relationships with independent dealers resulted, at this early stage, in the withdrawal of goods from the marketplace equaling more than 30% of third quarter net sales in the country.

In retail, Sunglass Hut once again confirmed its place as a leading global brand in the sun segment, with revenue growth of 14% at constant exchange rates².

In North America, a weak market environment, a reduction in price-based promotions at LensCrafters slowed the growth in comparable store sales⁴ for the optical retail business.

The Group's e-commerce platforms continued to grow, with revenue up by 18% at constant exchange rates² during the third quarter of 2016. The Group has targeted e-commerce as an area for accelerated growth in 2017.

Luxottica is continuing to invest in the second half of the year to support the simplification and further integration of the business along with projects designed to enhance the Group's technological, manufacturing and logistics infrastructure. In Sedico, Italy, the Group recently opened the laboratory for the production of ophthalmic lenses which will serve Europe, creating an integrated logistics and production hub between lenses and frames. This laboratory is an addition to the existing six facilities that are already making Luxottica a major player in the high-end ophthalmic lens business. By early 2017, new central labs will follow to serve North America and Asia-Pacific. They will produce ophthalmic lenses perfectly adapted to each frame manufactured by Luxottica, with the goal of providing consumers with a complete pair of prescription frames of the highest quality and aesthetic. Luxottica will offer eyecare providers a new service model, unparalleled in the market, integrating lenses and frames while also leveraging the efficiency of the Group's global distribution network.

"We are pleased with the quality of our growth in the quarter and the vitality of our business in markets such as Europe, Latin America and Southeast Asia. We managed to achieve these results during a period of major investment, integration and organizational simplification of the Group, and an uncertain macroeconomic setting. The solid growth of retail sales more than offset the reduction in wholesale volumes, which were affected by the decision to sharply reduce sales to online operators in North America and the withdrawal of goods from Chinese independent distributors who were not aligned with the Group's new distribution strategies. Ultimately, protecting the integrity and growth of our proprietary and licensed brands stands at the center of our strategy", commented Leonardo Del Vecchio, Executive Chairman, and Massimo Vian, CEO for Product and Operations.

"By year's end we will have substantially completed the integration of our businesses and we are already seeing the results of the various initiatives undertaken over the last twelve months. We therefore believe we can accelerate the growth of the Group starting in 2017, and keep it healthy and sustainable in the long run."

North America

In the third quarter of 2016, net sales at constant exchange rates² in North America remained largely unchanged compared to the corresponding period of 2015, showing growth in the Retail segment which increased net sales by 2.4% compared to adjusted^{3,5} net sales in the third quarter of 2015 at constant exchange rates². Additionally, net sales in North America accelerated compared to the first half of the year. Rising net sales for both Sunglass Hut and the optical retail brands, up by 8% and 1.8% respectively, drove the Retail segment's performance.

The Wholesale segment's net sales declined by approximately 11% in the third quarter which is primarily attributable to the enforcement of the Group's "MAP policy" and the integration of the Oakley sport channel, although sales for the first few weeks of October are already showing signs of a turnaround.

Europe

Europe continued to be an area of solid growth for the Group in the third quarter with a total increase of 8.3% in net sales at constant exchange rates² which is in addition to the strong top-line results reported in the same period of 2015. All markets in the region contributed to these results, with the exception of Turkey, which recorded a decline in sales after years of strong growth.

The Retail segment also contributed to the third quarter's strong results, particularly in the UK, Iberia and in Germany, with a strong acceleration in net sales over the first half of the year. Results were supported by the success of the latest collections, in particular Ray-Ban and Oakley, by the excellent sun season and the rising number of Sunglass Hut stores in travel retail locations and in Galeries Lafayette.

Asia-Pacific

The Asia-Pacific region closed the third quarter with net sales essentially unchanged at constant exchange rates² (+4.5% at current exchange rates), driven by positive contributions from Japan, Korea, India and Southeast Asia.

In Mainland China, the Group's revised distribution policies aimed at ensuring greater direct geographic coverage and enhanced quality of service lowered the Wholesale segment's results. The termination of several independent distributor relationships set the stage for healthier and sustainable growth in the long term. The Retail segment, on the other hand, highlighted positive results for Sunglass Hut and LensCrafters, as well as an excellent reception for the first 37 Ray-Ban stores, which are targeted to grow to 70 stores by year-end.

Hong Kong showed the first signs of recovery, and in Australia, OPSM continues to generate growing comparable store sales⁴ due to the assortment changes and distribution policies implemented in the first half of the year.

Latin America

Latin America's positive trend continued in the third quarter with sales up by 6.9%. The Group is growing by double-digits in Mexico and reinforces its market share in the Brazilian market, where it maintains a positive performance at constant exchange rates² in the first nine months, although the prolonged recession in the country is partially reflected in the quarter.

The Retail segment recorded strong progress in sales of GMO, especially in Chile, Peru and Colombia, as well as Sunglass Hut in Mexico and the Andean region.

Notes to the press release

1 Comparisons, including percentage changes, are between the three and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2016 and 2015.

2 Figures at constant exchange rates have been calculated using the average exchange rates in effect for the corresponding period in the previous year. For further information, please refer to the attached tables.

3 Adjusted net sales is not a measure in accordance with IFRS. For further information, please refer to the attached table.

4 “Comps” or “Comparable store sales” reflect the change in sales from one period to another that, for comparison purposes, includes in the calculation only stores open in the more recent period that also were open during the comparable prior period, and applies to both periods the average exchange rate for the prior period and the same geographic area.

5 The adjusted data for the three-month and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2015 does not take into account a change in the presentation of a component of EyeMed net sales that was previously included on a gross basis and in 2015 was included on a net basis due to a change in the terms of an insurance underwriting agreement (the “EyeMed adjustment”), resulting in a reduction to net sales on a reported basis of approximately Euro 44 million in the three-month period and approximately Euro 130 million in the nine-month period ended September 30, 2015. The EyeMed adjustment will no longer be applicable commencing with the first quarter of 2016 due to a modification to this insurance underwriting agreement.

We have reported adjusted net sales to take into account the impact of sales from the EyeMed division in 2015. Following the modification of an EyeMed reinsurance agreement with an existing underwriter, the Group assumed less reinsurance revenues and less claims expense in 2015. The impact of this contract for the three-month period and nine-month period ended September 30, 2015 was, respectively, Euro 44 million and Euro 130 million (the "Eyemed adjustment"). The EyeMed adjustment will no longer be applicable commencing with the first quarter of 2016 due to a modification to this insurance underwriting agreement.

The Company believes that adjusted measures are useful to both management and investors in evaluating the Company's performance compared with that of other companies in its industry. The adjusted measure referenced above is not a measure of performance in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board (IFRS). We include this adjusted measure in this presentation in order to provide a supplemental view of operations that excludes items that are unusual, infrequent or unrelated to our ongoing core operations. This adjusted measure is not meant to be considered in isolation or as a substitute for items appearing on our financial statements prepared in accordance with IFRS. Rather, any non-IFRS measure should be used as a supplement to IFRS results to assist the reader in better understanding the operational performance of the Company. The Company cautions that any adjusted measure is not a defined term under IFRS and any definition should be carefully reviewed and understood by investors. Investors should be aware that Luxottica Group's method of calculating any adjusted measure may differ from methods used by other companies. The Company recognizes that there are limitations in the usefulness of adjusted measures due to the subjective nature of items excluded by management in calculating adjusted comparisons. We compensate for the foregoing limitations by using any adjusted measure as a comparative tool, together with IFRS measures, to assist in the evaluation of our operating performance.
